

PROBAR NOT Impacted by Recent Pistachio Recall

We are aware of a recent recall for pistachios from Back to Nature Foods Company. The pistachios came from Setton Pistachio in Terra Bella, California. Our supplier is not related to this company nor do they share any common processing equipment or land. Our supplier is Nichols Farms from Hanford, California. Below is an official statement from Nichols Farms:

We are aware of the voluntary recall announced by the Back to Nature Foods Company. Nichols Farms is not involved.

The Western Pistachio Association (WPA) is closely monitoring this matter and can be a resource if you have additional questions. The executive director of the WPA, Mr. Richard Matoian, can be contacted at: rmatoian@westernpistachio.org

If you have any questions, you can contact me personally.
